Chilean Earthquake Update - Preliminary Loss Estimates

Lancashire Holdings Limited ("Lancashire") today announced that it estimates its net losses before tax from the earthquake in Chile and subsequent aftershocks range from approximately US$65 million to US$125 million including the sum of gross claims and claims expenses, reinsurance recoveries and reinstatement premiums.

Lancashire has exposure to risks in Chile in the following classes: property retrocession, property direct and facultative, property catastrophe, marine and onshore energy.

Loss information after a severe earthquake can take longer to obtain than for other events, particularly in the property retrocession portfolio which accounts for the majority of Lancashire's exposure. Lancashire's estimate is based on a market loss of US$6 billion to US$10 billion and the best available information obtained to date from its client base. As additional information emerges Lancashire's actual ultimate net loss from the Chile earthquake may vary materially from this preliminary estimate.

Lancashire does not believe it has any material exposure to losses caused by European windstorm Xynthia, or to losses from any other major catastrophe events that have occurred so far in the first quarter of 2010.

Lancashire expects to recommence its previously announced share repurchase programme, in accordance with its stated intention of managing capital to enhance shareholder return.
